

HILL DICKERING WITH GRAY

Deal By Which the Former Is to Get the Benefit of Gray's Strength Here.

Gray Willing to Enter Such an Agreement in Order to Better His Chances for the Vice-Presidential Nomination.

A Correct Poll of the Delegation Gives Isaac Pusey Seventeen Votes.

Mr. Shanklin "Talks On in Meeting"—A Protest Against Editor Mores—Mr. Pollard Talks—Gray Club Split—Political Notes

The first contingent of Indianapolis Democrats for Chicago will leave to-day, at noon, and open up the headquarters of the Indiana delegation at the Palmer House. This will be done by W. E. English and others of the Cleveland wing, and looks a little bit like stealing a march on the Gray people. Naturally this advance movement from Indiana will be pointed upon by Chicago news-gatherers, and, just as naturally, they will give a decided Cleveland coloring to what they may have to say. Before is a correct poll of the delegation, vouchered for by delegates on both sides who have talked with all the others:

First District—E. P. Richardson (Gray), Philip Zorcher (Cleveland).
Second—W. A. Cullip (Gray), Robert C. Houston (Gray).
Third—E. G. Nicklaus (Gray), D. A. Jennings (Gray).
Fourth—Herman Trechler (Gray), John Beggs (Gray).
Fifth—O. B. Johnson (Cleveland), W. S. Sherley (Cleveland).
Sixth—Joshua Clitwood (Gray), J. H. Smith (Gray).
Seventh—Alexander Ayres (Cleveland), W. E. English (Cleveland).
Eighth—John E. Lamb (Gray), Thomas Catlin (Cleveland).
Ninth—James Murdoch (Gray), James R. Tyro (Cleveland).
Tenth—Charles R. Pollard (Gray), John E. Cass (Gray).
Eleventh—Herman Wicking (Gray), Emerson E. McGuff (Gray).
Twelfth—Samuel M. Foster (Cleveland), N. B. Newman (Cleveland).
Thirteenth—O. M. Packard (Cleveland), H. S. Chester (Cleveland).
Representative—Gray, 17; Cleveland, 12; Palmer, 1.

The Cleveland people still have hopes that Richardson may obey the instructions of his district and vote for Cleveland on one ballot, but he is a very pronounced Gray man. Up to a few days ago they had been counting upon Pollard, but an interview with Mr. Pollard further on in this column shows very conclusively where he stands. John E. Cass's first choice is Palmer, of Illinois, but he is for anybody to beat Cleveland.

A DEAL WITH HILL.

Last night the information was wired from New York that Hill had won over the eighteen anti-Cleveland votes of the Indiana delegation by promising to help Gray's candidacy for second place. The Gray leaders here, when asked about this, said that such was impossible, because there had been no meeting or conference of the Gray delegates. But the Cleveland boomers have predicted some such move all the time and will not be much surprised if a deal has been made whereby Gray and his lieutenants agree to turn over their strength in Indiana Hill on the first ballot. They say that Shanklin sized up Gray's position exactly when he made his sarcastic reference to "Indiana's first-place pretensions and fall-end expectations." There has been nothing serious in their howling for Gray first place. Many of them, such as Lamb and Murdoch, are at heart Hill men, and nearly all the Gray sentiment is, in reality, mere opposition to Cleveland.

The exposure of the deal with Hill is all that was needed to make the split in the delegation permanent. A couple of days ago the Cleveland delegates were ready to go to Gray for second place and give him solid support for that, but now they will oppose him at every point. This is what the more radical of them have been advocating for several days, and John E. Cass, Mr. Shanklin, their willing candidate for Governor, voices their sentiments in his Evansville Courier in double these terms:

With all respect to Governor Gray, his opportunity is indefensible. Since his advent into the Democratic party in 1872 he has either been in office or a candidate for office. He has been Governor, he has been Lieutenant-Governor and Governor, he has received the votes of the Democrats of the Legislature for United States Senator, and the loyal support of the Indiana delegation to the St. Louis convention four years ago for the Vice-presidency. He might justly expect the same support at the Chicago convention to assemble one week from to-day if a year ago he had not shown his preference to the masses of Indiana Democrats. But he listened to the counsels of those who, for their own purposes, flattered him into the belief that he could beat Cleveland on the presidential nomination, and, having publicly declared that he was a candidate for that honor and nothing else, he could not back out. He has now to go to Chicago with the support of his friends in times past. But his services have been great, so have his rewards. If a balance-sheet were struck between the support he has largely in debt to the Indiana Democracy now, and we submit, therefore, that to present his name at Chicago in the name of the Indiana Democracy would be to lavish favors where they have already been conferred at least in the measure of the Democratic party.

The question for the delegation is, not what Governor Gray and his little coterie of idolaters want, but what the masses of Indiana Democrats want. There is a general feeling that Governor Gray should be content to retire on his present laurels—at all events, that he should refrain from further efforts for his own preferment, allowing his fellow-citizens to determine for themselves whether or not the continued bestowal of honors upon him is essential to their welfare and happiness.

"You can say," said one of the Cleveland delegates, yesterday, "that there has been no compromise in the delegation and there will be none looking to any other party than the one casting a solid vote for Cleveland on the first ballot. That's the way we interpret the instructions of the State convention. Those instructions declare that Cleveland is the logical candidate, and that our votes shall be cast for him unless the convention shall deem his nomination inexpedient. Now how are we going to know that the convention deems his nomination inexpedient until it takes a ballot?"

There the Cleveland men stand and over there stand the Gray men. Apparently they are further apart now than ever. All that celebrated "compromise agreement" accomplished was to prevent an open row in the State convention.

The Democratic Press.

There is a great deal of Democratic discontent over the course of the leading Democratic organs of the State. The Sentinel has particularly displeased and disgusted the wisest men in the party, though they do not say much about it. The Sentinel has hardly said a word in favor of the State ticket since the convention, and it is an open secret that the editorial writers, including Mr. Mores, are against the Vermillion county planer. Mr. Mores has said, according to Democratic rumor, that he "will yet bring Claude Matthews to his knees." The latter's success over Gil Shanklin, the proclaimer of the "90-per-cent.-for-Cleveland" fiction cut so deeply that the wound has never healed. The devotion of Mores, Morse and Dunn to the Stuffed Prophet has reached a point where to oppose him is sacrilege. It is also charged that the Sentinel, under the present management, has never cordially supported the State ticket, and that the editor is a Democrat for patronage only. For this reason there is serious talk among the Graylings of protesting against Mores's delegates at large, on the ground that he does not represent the Democracy of the State. There is said to be some question as to his right to the seat as delegate. The Evansville Courier, Shanklin's paper, and the Fort Wayne Journal, a radical Cleveland organ, have also been obnoxious of the fact that there is a State ticket, and the party leaders are getting concerned about the effect on the State canvass. It begins to look doubtful, if any other than Cleveland is nominated, whether these three papers will support the ticket, State or national.

Delegate Pollard Talks.
Mr. Charles R. Pollard, of Delphi, was at the Grand yesterday. He is a delegate to the Chicago convention from the Tenth district. In reply to a direct question from a Journal reporter, he said, with a serious laugh:

"My personal preference is for Governor Gray, and I will do all I can for him. But I do not think he can be nominated for first place. In my opinion the convention will make the Cleveland ticket for the State, and I will support it." "What about Boies?"

"Boies has some friends in my part of the State, and he would be acceptable to the general run of Democrats as a vice-presidential candidate. Still, we in Indiana would prefer Gray, and believe he would strengthen the ticket. Our delegation meets Saturday, at 4 p. m., at the Palmer House, and we will there determine what we will do in the convention. Senator Voorhees, who has always been a strong friend of Governor Gray, will be chairman of the delegation."

"And what about Hill?"

"Senator Hill has not a single man in my county for him, and I think very few in the district."

Between Two Fires.
The differences in the Gray Club have been patched up, it is said, and all but five or six of the members who left the club when President Parrott stuffed the Gray indorsement down the throats of the majority have returned. It was agreed not to push personal differences at this time for the sake of the party. But the club is in a quandary. A majority is against the patron political saint of the club, and if they vote for it will be because they are afraid. The outcome of the delegates' meeting at Chicago Saturday is anticipated with great interest. "We will know what to do then," said anti-Gray member yesterday. "If it's decided to support Gray, why, then we will have to shout for Gray, but if Cleveland, then we will make the welkin ring."

Senator Voorhees.
Senator D. W. Voorhees will arrive here this morning, on his way from Washington to his home in Terre Haute. He will remain there until the latter part of the week, when he goes to Chicago to attend the Democratic national convention. The arrangement now is for Senator Voorhees to present the name of ex-Governor Gray as a candidate for the presidency.

Drumming Up Recruits.

Last night several boys dressed in uniforms marched the streets with banners, on which an appeal from the Cleveland Club for people to go with them to the Chicago convention was painted in large letters.

DROWNED IN EAGLE CREEK.

Bennie Steinberg, a Twelve-Year-Old Boy, Gets Eaten by His Deity.

Bennie Steinberg, the twelve-year-old son of Steinberg, the cigarette manufacturer, on McNabb street, was drowned in Eagle creek, near Morris street, at 3 o'clock, yesterday afternoon. He was bathing in the creek near the spot where he was drowned, and had been warned not to go into the water at that point on account of its depth. He paid no attention to the warning, however, and plunged into nine feet of water, and was drowned before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered by Solomon Trotsky, and taken home by Planner & Buchanan. The boy lived at 47 Kimmel avenue. He is in Chicago taking treatment from physicians there.

Township Taxes.

Trustee Gold will make his levy of taxes for township purposes within the next few days. The annexations to the city the past year have transferred about $1,000,000 in taxes from the township to the city, while the additional improvements in the township are only about $200,000. The levy therefore will have to be higher.

The returns from townships outside of Center of the assessment of personal property are as follows:

Township. 1891. 1892.
Decatur.....$244,470 $251,855
Franklin.....239,115 236,050
Lawrence.....290,120 290,315
Perry.....251,120 272,920
Pike.....315,079 328,455
Warren.....184,053 182,545
Washington.....355,535 337,835
Wayne.....390,905 317,950
Wells.....283,980 283,980
Irvington.....108,610 109,855
Mt. Jackson.....23,815 16,430

Total.....$2,846,715 $2,823,220

This shows a falling off in the townships outside of Center of $23,495 from last year.

He Was Badly Used Up.

Ernest R. Baker has been keeping a boarding-house at the new fair grounds. But a few days ago, after a family row, he left home and did not return until Monday night. When he came into the house his wife fled from him and began screaming for him not to hit her. A step-son of Baker's named Leonard, who was the house at the time, took a hand and knocked Baker down. When he appeared at the "Squire's" office this morning to get a warrant for the step-son's arrest, also his wife's, he was found to be badly used up.

Badly Injured.

Powell Schilling, a boy, sixteen years of age, while driving a wagon on Michigan street, near Woodruff, met with a painful accident yesterday. Schilling is a driver of Dietz's butcher, at the corner of Vander street and Home avenue. The king-bolt of the wagon broke and threw him from the seat to the ground, injuring his side. Planner & Buchanan's ambulance removed him to the home of Mr. Dietz, the boy being an orphan.

J. B. Wilson Locates at Worthington.

The L. L. Law School closed Monday evening, June 13. The class was addressed by A. C. Harris, of Indianapolis. J. B. Wilson, class orator (class of '91), followed Mr. Harris in a well-prepared and eloquently delivered oration—"The Lawyer's Defense"—in which he showed conclusively that the criticism heaped upon lawyers and the reputation imputed to them, by many, for dishonesty, etc., are unjust, and that the lawyer's place in the growth of civilization has been above that of any other class of men.

Mr. Wilson will begin the practice of law at Worthington, Ind., and his success is well assured. He is a Republican, and will be in the field for Harrison and Reid in full force.

Representatives of the alumni of the Sigma Chi fraternity, with representatives of the Kappa Chapter from Butler University, met at Van Vorst & Stenger's law office, last night, to discuss plans for the accommodation of the nineteenth biennial convention, to be held here Aug. 21 to 23. Committees were appointed on hotels, subscription, railroads and press. A unique

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this:

"My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him very weak and with blood poisoned with cancer. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and for 7 weeks he could not even open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary, but their remedies did him no good. I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In my opinion it saved his sight, if not his very life." ABRIE F. BLACKMAN, 2283 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Hobbs, '79, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Vass Knowlton, '78; Mrs. Kate Metcalf, '79; Helen Long, '83; for members of the board of control, Susie Stewart, '83; Lynn M. Brown, '76, and Frank R. Shepard, '70.

A PRIVILEGE ABUSED.
Dr. Denson Shows that Well-to-Do People Call on the City Dispensary.

Dr. H. A. Denson read a paper last evening before the Marion County Medical Society which was of more than passing moment to the tax-payers of this city, as showing the class of people who avail themselves of the free medicines and free medical treatment afforded by the City Dispensary. The doctor has recently investigated one hundred cases, and from this investigation he drew the conclusion that from 40 to 70 per cent. of those treated are persons amply able to pay for their visits, and made in company with one of the physicians of the dispensary.

Twenty cases he visited during the past four days. He found that nearly all the people, the average of those visited being worth $1,500. He discovered that comparatively few people availed themselves of the services of the dispensary physicians. Among those visited was an old woman who owns two houses and lots. She lives with a daughter who owns the house in which she dwells and is building a new house beside it. Another patient visited asked the dispensary doctor how he thought of the city man who would be able to go out to his farm. He also noted among other patients who came to the dispensary yesterday morning and evening for medical treatment, a lady who was away on a summer vacation in Michigan.

AN AWFUL DEATH.

Peter Schaub, a Sufferer from Disease, Commits Suicide.

Peter Schaub, a German gardener, living north of Emmerichville, committed suicide at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been sick for several years and had been growing worse lately. Monday night he was very sick and had several spasms. He complained to his wife of the intense pain his sickness caused him and said he could not stand it much longer. Yesterday morning he was still complaining of great pain and his wife was at his bedside with him and not make the usual trip to market, but he persuaded her not to remain, saying he would like for her to get him some medicine.

Some time after she left Schaub went into the smoke-house and blew off his entire face from the chin up with a shotgun. The manner of killing was so horrible that it is supposed from appearances that he deliberately loaded the gun, and lying upon the floor, placed the butt of the gun against a barrel and discharged it by means of a string attached to the trigger. The smoke-house was strewn with pieces of flesh and spattered with his brains. His wife was not permitted to see the mangled body yesterday for fear the shock would be too great for her.

An Important Meeting.

The directors of the Commercial Club yesterday received the reports of the various committees. The treasury showed a balance of $4,200. Eight new members were received. Mr. Griffith called attention to the fact that the withdrawal of the Indiana National Bank from the clearing-house would show a largely reduced report, and would lead to an erroneous idea as to the amount of the Great Skin cure in this city. He urged that measures be taken to provide a report of clearings not only from those banks in the clearing-house, but also all those not connected with it. The directors gave their approval and ordered the subject referred to the committee on city interests for consideration and report.

Corticura Resolvent

The new blood Purifier. Intensely to cleanse the blood of all impurities and poisons, and to the only cure of the Great Skin cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite skin Beautifier, externally to clear the skin and scalp and restore the hair, have cured thousands of cases where the shedding of scales manifested a quart daily, the skin cracked, bleeding, burning and itching, almost beyond endurance, hair falling or all gone, suffering terribly.
